BROOKINS OUT OF AEROPLANE RACE.His Mishap But One of the Many Thrills at Belmont Park Today.*HUBERT LATHAM IS A HERO*Remarkable Presence of Mind Saves Lives of Society Leaders—France's Chances Go Olimmoring and Yankees Pin Faith in Hamilton.*United Press Telegram.
BELMONT, Ia., Oct. 29.—Claude Graham-White started first in the Coupe Internationale d'Aviation today, ascending at the rate of a mile a minute, at 8:12 this morning. He completed the five laps 15.55 miles in 17 minutes and 40 seconds.

Leblanc started at 9 o'clock, 11th round the first lap at the rate of .70 miles an hour, the greatest speed on a circular track in the history of aviation. Flying very low Leblanc cut the corners so sharply that it seemed he would be dashed against the pylon. Ogilvie started at 9:08 o'clock. It was officially announced that Leblanc's first three laps was a new world's record. He completed the 9.33 miles in eight minutes and 50 seconds.

When Graham-White had completed his tenth lap, Leblanc flushed past him,lapping him. Leblanc's flight was sensational. He flew within 25 feet of the ground and turned the pylons within five feet.

Graham-White landed safely, finishing the 20 laps in 61 minutes, an average of about .60% miles an hour.

Ogilvie was compelled to descend at the 13th lap. At the 19th lap Leblanc crashed down into a telegraph pole, cutting it completely and demolishing his machine. He was rushed to the emergency hospital. Leblanc was compelled to descend because his gasoline became exhausted. He lost control and spoilt a royal chance as the official announcement showed he was averaging over 80 miles an hour.

The daring aviator returned to the track with his head swathed in bandages. There was a tremendous cheer as the crowd got a glimpse of him. He was unable to respond.

Walter Brookins not with an accident that threatened to put him out of the running. He tumbled 30 feet in front of the grand stand. This occurred just after he had started. The machine was wrecked and Brookins rushed to the hospital writhing in pain. Physicians later announced that his injuries are not serious and he will be able to resume flying. The Wright brothers hurriedly changing Brookins' engine to another they racer and he is expected to start again this afternoon.

The officials announced that his first was only a trial flight. Latham started at 10:58 and Ogilvie reascended finishing in 2:06:36. Graham-White had the best time up to noon.

The Wrights announced that because of Brookins' accident they would not try in the international contest. Moisant will probably be the substitute.

One of the most remarkable exhibitions of presence of mind ever seen at an aero meet saved the lives of probably a score of the best known men and women of the New York social set and established Hubert Latham, the French aviator, on a pinnacle of high esteem. He was just completing his 10th lap when the wind, rising to 25 miles an hour, flung the aeroplane towards the club house. When only 15 feet high the machine caught in an eddy, spun around and seemed about to crash into the crowd on the lawn.

By a heroic effort Latham managed to keep the aeroplane level and skinned barely a yard over them. He frantically jammed the planes upward and raised the judges stand by less than a foot. He descended almost unscathed by the narrow escape. The crowd was frantic and cheered wildly.

The gale wind had wrecked his wings so Latham declared it would be impossible for him to continue. France's chances are gone with Leblanc and Latham out of it and Sherron refusing to fly because the expenses of the flight are not guaranteed him.

Latham and Leblanc went to Belmont's tent, giving the pointers about the course and wind. They declared they wanted an American to repeat if France could not win.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 29.—A supplement full of campaign material representations, which was issued with the regular edition of the Clarksburg Exponent this morning, has already sent one man crazy and caused others to be outraged for others.John Board, a printer, who came to Clarksburg several days ago from Uniontown, and who obtained employment at the Exponent office is the victim and he is now a prisoner in the county jail apparently a raving maniac. Board often worked in Connellsville and is well known there as he is in Uniontown. Porting over the campaign matter that he had to handle in helping to make up the supplement of the Democratic newspaper and trying to figure out what the stuff meant no doubt caused his mind to give away. Police Chief Harry L. Brooks went before Justice G. H. Gordon yesterday morning and swore out a bench warrant for the poor man and he will be examined by the court and it phalanx within a short time.*The unfortunate man became violent Thursday evening while at work in the Exponent office. FINAL PLANS FOR BIG PARADE MADE.

Committee Met Last Evening to Arrange the Last Details.

BURGESS EVANS TO LEAD IT

The Mummers Will March Promptly at 8 o'clock, When Janitor McMama Will Toll the Bell—H. O. Keaggy Has the Red Fire.

Final details for the Hallowe'en parade next Monday evening were made at a special meeting held last evening in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and presided over by Burgess J. L. Evans. Nothing of importance was decided upon as practically everything had previously been arranged. There were a number of details, however, that required attention.

As previously stated, the parade will move promptly at 8 o'clock. At that time Janitor McMama will ring the bell at the Fourth Ward school building as a signal to start.

The school children and Y. M. C. A. delegation will be the only ones to assemble on Fairview avenue, with the exception of the bands. The older mummers who are to march will form at the Colonial theatre and fall in behind the school children.

Burgess Evans stated last evening that he had secured the assistance of the special officers of the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads to assist in preserving order along the line of march that evening.

The distribution of the red fire was left entirely in the hands of H. O. Keaggy, chairman of the committee purchasing the pyrotechnic display. He will distribute the sticks according to his best judgment.

Burgess Evans will lead the parade as the chief marshal. This was insisted upon by the committee which met last evening to make the final arrangements.

LAUREL FLOUR PRIZE CONTEST AROUSES NO LITTLE INTEREST

Grocers Arrange Tasty Window Displays and Housewives Are After Prize.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the contest inaugurated here by the Westmoreland Grocery Company, distributors of Laurel Flour, for the best bread baked with that flour. The first prize is $10 for the best loaf of bread.

In addition to its extensive advertising campaign in the newspapers, the company has also interested retailers in arranging artistic displays. Greer T. J. Reynolds of South Pittsburgh street has arranged one of the most unique window displays out of his Laurel Flour equipment that has been seen about town for some time past.

10th Anniversary of the Liederkranz Was Celebrated

The tenth anniversary of the German Liederkranz Society was celebrated last evening with a large reception and dance held in the Liederkranz hall. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and from 8 P. M. until 2 o'clock this morning presented a gay and attractive scene.

Musical was furnished by Kitter's orchestra and refreshments were served at midnight. A large number of out-of-town guests were present and all spent most enjoyable evening. The affair was one of the largest and most successful dances ever held by the society.

CURES PIMPLES QUICKLY.

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past A. A. Clarke has done the biggest business he has ever had in any one article in selling Hobkura, the skin food that has won so many friends in Connellsville.

It has been found to be an absolute cure not only for all minor skin troubles, such as pimplies, blackheads, herpes, acne, itching scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but for the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hobkura does not heal, and its action is so instantaneous that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of the unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits A. A. Clarke will sell a liberal-sized jar for 25¢; larger sizes 50¢. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

NO DECISION IN BRIDGE CASE.

FOR THE BROWNSVILLE BRIDGE

Fayette and Washington County Commissioners Met in Pittsburg Yesterday—Expect to Interest Attorney General Todd in Matter.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 29.—Nothing of importance was done at the meeting of the Fayette and Washington county commissioners in the Fort Pitt Hotel at Pittsburg yesterday morning in regard to the Brownsville bridge question. After a discussion lasting about an hour it was agreed to have their attorneys, Isaac W. Baum of Washington, Pa., and R. F. Hopwood of Uniontown, take the matter up with Attorney General M. Hampton Todd. An effort will be made to have an appropriation of from $250,000 to $300,000 made by the State Legislature in the coming session, for the building of the bridge. The State Highway Department will be interested in the matter as the proposed structure will become a connecting link on the National Pike, at present divided between Washington and Fayette counties by the Monongahela river.

Little trouble is expected in turning Attorney General Todd's attention to the bridge question. He was born in Philadelphia where his father had moved, from Uniontown, after being appointed to the attorney generalship by the late Governor Ritter, in December 1885. In 1883 the family moved back to the county seat of Fayette. Todd graduated from Washington and Jefferson College after which he read law with George W. K. Minor of Uniontown.

He was admitted to the Fayette county bar in September, 1883, later in Allegheny county and then in Philadelphia where he has since resided. He is said to be well acquainted with Fayette county and will probably take a special interest in the proposed structure.

Guests of Miss DuShane.

The Y. B. P. U. Society of the First Baptist church held a delightful Hallowe'en party last evening at the home of Miss Grace DuShane on Winter avenue. The decorations were in keeping with Hallowe'en, and the apartments on the first floor presented a very ghoulish appearance. On their arrival at the DuShane home the guests were received by Miss Margaret Lyon, who was supposed to be a ghost. The electric lights were turned off, and the rooms were dimly lighted with jack-o'-lanterns, which peered from every nook in the room. A ghost story was read by Mrs. E. A. P. Palmiter and at a late hour refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, ginger bread and pop were served.

Baptist Ladies Meet.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church held its regular meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Humbert on Highland avenue. There was a good attendance and the meeting was one of interest. Arrangements were made for a running side to be held in the near future. A social hour and refreshments followed.

Cold Meat Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church held a very successful cold meat supper last evening in the church. A large number were served and quite a nice little sum was raised for the society treasury. The supper was well appointed and was served in a very excellent manner.

Hostess at Bridge.

Mrs. Fenton T. Evans is hostess at bridge this afternoon at her home on Bedford street.

Royal Circle Class.

The Royal Circle Class of the United Brethren Sunday school held a very enjoyable meeting last evening at the home of E. C. Henry in East Connellsville. About 30 persons including members and friends of the Circle were present. The regular business meeting was held after which a musical and literary program was carried out.

Music will be furnished by Kitter's orchestra.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Think by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff. Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff hair life long, unaccompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that. Newbro's Horpledile, Horpledile, by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Horpledile. Sold by leading drugists. Send 10¢ in stamp to sample to The Horpledile Co., Detroit, Mich.

NEVELL'S SUIT.

For Damages Against B. & O. Will Be Tried in Pittsburg.

The suit of F. A. Newell to recover $10,000 from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for injuries sustained will come to trial in the United States court. Yesterday Judge Young and our decision the case should be tried as a special one at the November term.

Deafness cannot be cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the Eustachian tube. When this tube becomes inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken care of this tube restored to its normal condition, deafness will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for the sum of Deafness treatment, which cannot be cured by Hatty Utter's Cure. Send for Utter's Cure, F. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

YOU HAVE TO BE CAREFUL ABOUT FURNITURE

It's as tricky as a Missouri mule.

If you saw an advertisement, for instance, of some "Fine American Rockers" at a ridiculously low price you might go straight-away and part with your money and think you had a bargain. But listen!

There is a way to stamp with paint the exact grain of quartered oak on softer, cheaper woods. It looks fine for a little while. It doesn't cost nearly as much.

And some man who thought as little of his country as he did of his own honesty, called the results of his process "American Oak."

Watch out for these slippery, nice sounding names--Look for what's underneath.

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES AND WHAT THEY STAND FOR.

The campaign tactics of Candidate Jesse Cook Wise are unique, but there is no reason to think that they will be successful. They possess the merit of originality, and to that extent they are interesting; and they will in all probability be instructive to their inventor and to all others who are ambitious to do new and startling campaign stunts.

The chief trouble with Candidate Wise is that he is loaded up with too many complicated and conflicting issues. His famous Platform is much too big and unwieldy. The combined strength of Jesus and his joy wagon is inadequate to its successful transportation over the district. It also has a habit of turning its planks into new and fanciful positions, of losing some altogether and acquiring others in the process of its aimless drifting.

Not satisfied with his herculean task of Platform building and totting, Candidate Wise has undertaken some new and dangerous feats. Among others he is trying the difficult experiment of carrying water on one shoulder and whisky on the other. In the beginning of his campaign, he cultivated the Prohibition vote; he is now writing letters to liquor dealers saying in effect that their interests are his interests, without any embarrassing explanations. He also aspires to be a successful Tariff juggler. He started out as a shrewd pure Rockwater Democrat, denouncing the Tariff as robbery and demanding Free Trade legislation; he concludes by promulgating a revised Tariff plank which demands "sufficient Tariff to protect the American laborer." This plank was added after he had clinched the Keystone nomination, and it is designed to placate Keystone Republicans.

This Tariff plank is Republican Tariff doctrine. The Republican party demands a Tariff for Protection, which means a Tariff sufficient to protect the wages of American labor, which involves like the sufficient Tariff to protect the American manufacturer. American industries are composed of an indissoluble union of American capital and American labor. Labor cannot be protected successfully without the protection of the employer. The ability of the latter to pay American wages depends upon his ability to make his business profitable enough to pay those wages and have remaining a reasonable profit on his investment.

This in brief is the Tariff policy of the Republican party.

But it is charged by the Democrats that the Payne-Aldrich bill discriminates in favor of some industries and enables them to make an unrighteous profit from the American consumer. It is admitted that it is impossible to frame a Tariff bill which will not contain some such imperfections. To begin with, the Tariff is a vast and complicated subject, and in dealing with it Washington statesmen must meet the demands of a multitude of conflicting interests represented by voters in Congress, a majority of which are necessary to the passage of any Tariff legislation.

In this condition of affairs, a condition which has existed since the establishment of the government and which has plagued the Democratic party quite as much as it has bothered the Republican party, it is believed that the Republican administration of Presidents Taft has hit upon a plan that will, after many years, slowly but surely, work out the problem of adjusting Tariff duties equitably in all conflicting interests. This plan is embodied in the law which has created the Tariff Commission.

The clamor for another revision of the Tariff should be hushed until the Tariff Commission shall have had time to demonstrate its usefulness or its folly. In the light of experience, it may be stated with confidence that another revision of the Tariff at this time would result in no more equitable conditions than those which now obtain.

What such a Tariff revision would do, however, would be to cause widespread business depression and possibly panics, with their attendant evils of idle mines and cities, mills and factories, workmen out of employment, want and distress throughout the land. The opposition tries to make light of this dark picture, but we need only point out that IT IS THE EXPERIENCE OF HISTORY, OF REPEATED AND ALWAYS BITTER.

The victims of political unrest should stop, look and listen. They are on a dangerous railroad crossing. The locomotive is coming, and they might as well try with their puny bodies to stay its iron course as to try to prevent the evils of Tariff revision, especially at the hands of a band of Free Trade fanatics whose banner is inscribed with the slogan, "DOWN WITH PROTECTION!"

Jesse Cook Wise is a Democrat who has been too recent and vacillating a convert to Protection to be trusted, in company with a Democratic majority at Washington, to revise the Tariff again; and his other political propositions are entirely too fanciful for common people to understand. In these days of emotional statements, this Congressional district, with its most industrial interests and its armada of workmen whose prosperity is linked with that of their employers, needs a Representative at Washington of ability, consistency, integrity and sound business judgment. The Republican party offers such a candidate in the person of Colonel Thomas M. Clegg.

Straws are said to show which way the wind blows, but straw votes merely show that some winds only blow. A straw vote is an infinitesimal expression of a pacific opinion. A straw vote is not a reliable indicator of individual judgment, but as an indication of public sentiment it is more reliable. A Pittsburgh broker offers two to one with no takers that Tamm will carry Allegheny county. If Tamm is elected, he will be a member of the boths of Harrison, he will carry the State by a comfortable plurality.

The finishing touches have been put on the Halloween celebration.

There is hardly any excuse for public begging in Connellsville. If the beggar is in actual want and is worthy of aid, and in this case, receives the prompt consideration of the town's organized charity, if he is a fraud, the town authorities should place him in custody, in no event should he be permitted to make a show of dumb misery in public places.

Will the B. & O meet the Western Maryland on Laugherty creek in peace or in war?

If Meyersdale gets the big B. & O. yards will her love for the Western Maryland grow cold?

The Bryan-Berry organs charge that the steel magnate creates new offices and raised salaries. Perhaps they did, but not without reason. The State of Pennsylvania has grown considerably in the past ten years, and so has its government; furthermore the cost of living has increased, and necessarily increased. New offices and bigger salaries were, therefore, necessary and proper.

High School pupils are having a chilly time of it.

Boswell is another town that has coal to burn but not enough water to put itself out.

The Democratic organs talk incessantly about the "corrupt Penrose machine," but they carefully avoid the embarrassment of detailed specifications.

While our sanitary investigation drags its slow length along, upheld goes ahead at a gallop.

Dawson has hopes of a new B. & O. station. It is high time the hope was realized.

The West Side is afflicted with gallinaceous kidnappers.

New York express packages continue to be tied up.

The joy riders of Fayette county have formed a combine, but the coke producers and the newspaper publishers continue to shoot at each other's financial throats at every opportunity.

The Washington county courts have been called upon to define the rights and duties of the gas and illuminating companies in common interests. This little problem is also before the Fayette county courts and seems to be in a fair way to be solved soon.

The Ohio Geological figures that Ohio's coal will be exhausted in three years, Pennsylvania and West Virginia will have plenty left, and will be willing to supply Buckeye fuel for a consideration.

They'll be something doing in the old town Monday night.

The coke business is dull, but other coal region business seems to be booming. Life is seldom without some competition.

The City Hall is in danger of being blown to kingdom come. The burglar, a most unsuccessful steel mill. The burglar complains that he can't keep anything on his desk.

The lost sermons were last to come in, but they are first in the race.

It's a good thing the political campaign is near a close. Some of the Democratic organs are getting hysterical.

Some people turn their imagination into money; others into folly; and some unfortunate creatures turn theirs into worry.

The Official Organ of the Young Men's Christian Association calls it "the deadly Senate Journal." It is certainly deadly to the members and most of the leaders of The News, wonder why it was never pulled off them.

The Official Organ of the Young Men's Christian Association admits that Senator Grim, Democratic candidate for Governor, has been absent from the Senate in the session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, but demands that we prove it. We will be happy to do so if we can get Candidate Doarman

MASKERS AND MUMMERS ALL.

Scottdale is the Objective Point for Many Sight-seers Tonight.

A SAFE AND SANE HALLOWEEN

Final Activities of the Day Indicative of Town Surpassing Any Celebration That it Has Ever Had—Preparations Are Elaborate and Costly.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, Oct. 29.—This has been a day of tovorial, final preparation for Scottdale's Hallowe'en celebration this evening, and the stores have been filled with people who were anxious to have their buying done, and get home to make ready for the evening. There has been an extra call on the foodstuffs for many people at a distance reading of Scottdale's doings have taken the opportunity to come here to see the parade and visit over Sunday with friends and relatives.

Thus far everything is working out nicely and all now needed to make the event a perfect success is a fine evening. The snow last night was not encouraging, however, but it did not dampen the enthusiasm. Many special features it has been whispered about will appear in the parade line. As one illustration of what is being done one man came to the Lippe shoe store yesterday afternoon and wanted to buy a pair of old-fashioned cow hide boots to carry out with fidelity the part he was to play. It is doubtful if a real old-fashioned boot could be obtained for miles around. The man was greatly disappointed when told the boots could not be had, for he was willing to pay any price for them in order to complete his costume properly. That is only one illustration of the enterer that is being made by individuals to contribute to the spirit of the occasion.

The judges have been selected, five in number. For obvious reasons their identity is not disclosed nor is there any announcement of where they are to be stationed, until the parade is in motion. Marchers must pass them going and returning. On the return, cards will be handed the winners, and these cards presented at Wiley & Melling's Jewelry store on Monday will secure the prize.

Street Commissioner E. M. Stantz and his force were out yesterday cleaning the streets on the line of march and continued the work today. The red fire committee will get busy in the afternoon, after a meeting held at noon today and will distribute the sticks of red fire, each to burn about 19 minutes. These are to be used along the line of parade, and all are not to be fired at once as it is anticipated that the parade will be a lengthy one.

Another band reported last night that it would be present, the Bridgewater Brass Band of 20 pieces. This with several other bands will insure plenty of music. The militi men have been very active and intent upon competing w/ each other to win some of the cash prizes offered by the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company. There will be a great rivalry between the two units.

This was pay day and the men have been devoting the afternoon to preparations to enter the parade tonight. Many country people are going to take part. The supply of masks and such things has been gone into heavily today, and those who waited until the last moment before making their purchases, many of them have found that the things they had looked at were gone. However, there was a large supply in town and everyone was able to get some kind of a get up. The country people are taking a great interest in the affair and many of them will take part in the parade or watch it from convenient places. Horse and wagons and buggies will be removed from the main streets, and every stable will do a heavy stall business.

The children are in their glory today with preparations and the entire juvenile population will be out on the streets tonight. A looked-for feature follows the parade when the Girls' brigade will give a fancy drill on Chestnut street, the streets to be cleared for that occasion.

Hallowe'en Dance.

Hallowe'en dance on mosque was given at Temperance hall last night by the younger set of town, and with a number of guests from out of town.

A Pleasing Window.

Eicher & Graft have a great window showing the sentiment of the season. It is decorated with corn fodder and pumpkins and has a number of specimens of various animals that prove interesting to many people. Among the specimens is a live otter, something that many have never seen before.

Orange Meeting.

Eureka Orange, Patrons of Humanity, will hold an open meeting in their hall in the Eicher & Graft building, Saturday afternoon, November 5, at 2:30. The public is invited to be present at that time and visit the Orange. This should prove an interesting meeting to this lively farming section.

Football Game.

The Scottdale Reserves and the Connellsville Scholastics are scheduled to meet on Loucks' Field in connection this afternoon at 3:30. This is said to be a pair of teams that will put up a fight for football honors.

The Evangelistic Meetings.

The union evangelistic meeting last evening was one of the most remarkable of any that have been held and the great audience present manifested the greatest interest throughout. The singing of the hymn, "O What a Change" by the large choir and audience was electrifying. The audience spent some time in telling of special blessings they had received and a large number spoke. F. A. Mills and Elmer Morrow sang the duet "Some Day" in a pleasing manner after which Evangelist Davis preached a brief pointed sermon from the text Rom. 1:16: "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." At the close of the sermon Evangelist Davis had the choir vacate the platform. Thirty-five young ladies took the seats vacated. Evangelist Davis said: "I have 35 young ladies who will preach to us tonight. I want to prove to you what the Spirit of God can do with a person that is willing to be used so I have asked these young ladies not to prepare a speech." Each of the young ladies without invitation stepped to the platform and spoke one after another with a spirit and power that thrilled the audience. Some of the sermonettes were exhortations. Others gave personal experiences and expressed truths with a power that was indescribably impressive. After a large number had spoken Evangelist Davis gave the audience chance to give their impressions of the meeting. One old lady said "in the course of 70 years of my life I have never attended a meeting so wonderful as this." Others expressed similar opinions. Although it was after 11 o'clock Evangelist Davis seemed powerless to close the meeting as one after another spoke. Those who missed the meeting certainly missed something that rarely is seen in the course of a life time. Evangelist Davis declared that he would have another similar service in the near future when the remainder of the young ladies on the platform will give a chance to speak.

In case the tabernacle is completed in time the Sunday meetings will be held there beginning with an afternoon service at 3 o'clock.

SUCCEEDS C. C. MITCHELL WITH MORRIS & CO.

Frederick Zoll of Pittsburgh will succeed C. C. Mitchell as funeral director for Morris & Company. Mr. Zoll has had a wide experience in embalming. For the past five years he has been employed by Thomas B. Moreland, one of the most prominent funeral directors of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Zoll will arrive in Connellsville Monday afternoon and will assume his duties Tuesday morning.

BLOW FALLS IN MARYLAND

Grandfather Clause, Barring Negroes From Polls, Unconstitutional.

Baltimore, Oct. 29.—Judge Morris in the United States circuit court rendered a decision in which he held the grandfather law applicable to the municipality of Annapolis unconstitutional because it conflicted with the fifteenth amendment. It practically barred negroes from voting at local elections.

The decision has a far-reaching effect. It is the first time the grandfather act has been squarely presented and as an appeal is to be taken to the supreme court that tribunal's decision will, according to leading attorney here, determine the validity of the laws now operative in the southern states.

KILLS SELF, WIFE AND BABY

Ohio Farmer's Motive For Crime Is Unknown.

St. Clairsville, O., Oct. 29.—Blasius Nochtauer, a farmer living four miles from here, shot and killed his wife, twenty-one years old, and his two-year-old baby and then committed suicide.

No motive for the crime is known. It is said that the family had been happy.

COL. HUFF'S CONDITION.

Goes From Home to Hospital for Better Facilities.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 29.—Congressman George P. Huff left his home here Wednesday for the Homoeopathic hospital in Pittsburgh in order to have the benefit of the hospital facilities and more convenient attention from his physician, Dr. McClelland of Pittsburgh, during his convalescence.

At the close of the last session of Congress, Congressman Huff suffered from an attack of malaria, followed by some intestinal trouble. He visited Atlantic City and spent the summer at his home here. While his condition is not serious, it is thought a minor operation will hasten his rapid recovery.

Changes at West Virginia.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 30.—(Special)—At a meeting of the State Board of Regents here, J. C. Callison of the Post Graduate School of New York was elected to succeed Dr. J. H. Grant in the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

Damage Was $75,000.

How Prizes are Awarded

A competent committee of ladies will decide the awards each day under conditions that will render the decisions absolutely fair and impartial.

All Bread to Charities

We have determined to donate all the bread received in the contest to charities and the money paid for it will go to the charities. Help in this important part of the work we have left a blank line on the certificate, where you may write the name of the institution to which your loaf is to be given.

Cash for Every Loaf of Bread

We want to show you and to every bread baker the wonderful quality of Laurel Flour for making the very finest and most palatable bread. We will pay you 25 cents a loaf for the bread you make with Laurel Flour purchased during the three weeks of the contest period. The bakers must be entered on the last three days of this period. Only one prize will be awarded to one person.

Why We Pay You 25 cents

We are entitled to enter as many loaves as you have certificates from your local baker of Laurel Flour, purchased during the three weeks of the contest period. The bakers must be entered on the last three days of this period. Only one prize will be awarded to one person.

Certificates will be given only with every 40 lb. bag of Laurel Flour purchased between October 10th and November 4th, 1910. Bring your bag of bread to the LAUREL BREAD BAKING CONTEST HEADQUARTERS, 1481 49th Street, next to the Colonial Bank, on Wednesday, Thursday, November 5th, or Friday, November 6th.

DAWSON.

DAWSON, Oct. 28—Miss Helen Bell Bush was tendered a surprise party in honor of her birthday at her home on Thursday evening by her room mates at No. 4 in the public school building. Miss Bush had dinner for all at six o'clock for the relatives and at 7:30 o'clock was prepared for the girls when they arrived. She had baked a large birthday cake which was covered with cream and candies for each year of her life. The cake was cut into 16 pieces which came to $10.25 when a dignity lunch was served. Each guest was given a dainty souvenir which was a miniature pumpkin tied with green ribbon. The house was profusely decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and carnations. The room was filled with the fragrance of flowers.

It was a most delightful affair. The girls were very happy and the party was a success.

TENER HEARD IN HIS LIBEL SUIT.

Gubernatorial Nominee Testifies in Magistrate's Court.

SAYS COMPANY WAS ALL RIGHT

Not a Friend or Associate of Swindlers, Tener Declares—Editor Van Valkenburg of Philadelphia North American to Furnish $5,000 Bail.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—E. A. Van Valkenburg, editor and president of the North American, was arraigned before Magistrate Gallagher for hearing on the charge of criminal libel brought against him by John K. Tener, the Republican nominee for governor.

The North American has declared that "Tener was the friend and associate of swindlers." It was these publications that brought about the arrest of Mr. Van Valkenburg.

Mr. Tener was accompanied by his counsel, A. S. L. Shields and Francis S. Brown. Former Judge James O. Gordon was Van Valkenburg's counsel.

Tener's Testimony.

Mr. Tener in reply to questions about the National Public Utilities corporation said:

"In December last I was visited in my apartment at Washington by Frank L. Smart and W. L. Christian, who explained to me the project of a railroad in Oregon, which was to run from Astoria to Seaside and later penetrate some valuable timber lands. They asked me to become president, but I declined because of too many other business connections."

"At a subsequent conference, however, I promised to consider the proposition, which I did. I then made a full inquiry.

Balfeff With Proposition and Men.

"I then inquired through my business friends in Philadelphia concerning William L. Christian and learned that he was a reputable corporation lawyer. Being satisfied with both the proposition and the men I consented to become president at a salary of $5,000 a year.

"After my election I received a certificate of 5,000 shares of stock of a par value of $50,000. This certificate laid on my desk for several days, though I instructed my clerk to return it. Finally I sent it back, saying I had not earned it and suggested that it be held in escrow until such time as I felt that I had earned it or that it be held for someone else more entitled to it."

Mr. Tener then said that he was forced to resign both as president and director to take effect April 1.

The witness denied that he had ever been the associate of crooks, convicts or unconvicted crooks. He also denied any knowledge of the underlying corporations of the public utility corporation.

Cannot Recall Amounts.

On cross-examination Mr. Tener testified that he did not know whether the company had any money in the treasury. He had never presided at any meetings of the concern, nor had he signed any papers as president.

Mr. Tener said he made a general inquiry into the company's affairs, but did not personally go into its affairs deeply because he had faith in Smart and Christian, whom he knew to be honest men. He did not know, he said, when the corporation was organized, but he felt the company was all right because he knew the men connected with it were honest and that they constantly came in touch with men of high business integrity.

Touching on the sale of his stock in the Security Life and Annuity company he denied that the sale was not above board, but could not recall the amount of money he received for it.

Mr. Tener was vehement in his denial. He frequently irritated Judge Gordon by his failure to be able to remember dates, incidents and other things in connection with various enterprises he was interested in.

At the close of the hearing Mr. Van Valkenburg was held in $5,000 bail for trial.

TRADE RECESSION CHECKED

Although Volume of Business is Below Normal—Dun's Review.

New York, Oct. 29.—Dun's Review of Trade says today:

"While the volume of business is still below productive capacity it is noteworthy that trade recession has clearly been checked and a more optimistic view as to the future developed, based largely on the great corn and cotton crop and the high values of farm products."

"While many consumers of iron and steel still show conservatism in their operations, signs of actual improvement in business are not lacking. In pig iron a larger buying power has developed. Thimble continues to make the best showing in finished lines, with consumers and dealers taking other products at a fair rate."

Gas and Gun.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 29.—Two men committed suicide here. Mr. L. H. Houston, sixty years old, shot himself. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Van Sickle, forty-five years old, took gas.

MITCHELL DAY TODAY

Miners in Anthracite Regions of Pennsylvania Are Celebrating.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 29.—Miners workers of the anthracite region are idle today. Mitchell day, in honor of the former president of the organization.

Mitchell arranged to make four speeches today. At 9 o'clock this morning he addressed a mass meeting at Nanticoke, near this city; at 2 o'clock this afternoon he will speak at Old Forge, at 4 he will be at Jenkinsburg, and in the evening he will make an address at Carbondale.

The day is set aside by the mine workers as an annual holiday to celebrate the ending of the big strike in 1902.

CHINA BORROWS $50,000,000

Syndicate of American Bankers Will Furnish the Money.

New York, Oct. 29.—The confirmation of the report that negotiations between a syndicate of American bankers and the Chinese government for a loan of $50,000,000 had come to a successful issue was taken as a hopeful sign of a coming improvement in our export trade with the Orient.

The proceeds of this loan are to be used by the Chinese government on behalf of currency reform, for the promotion of industrial development and for the building of state railroads.

The syndicate of bankers interested in the loan consists of J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City bank and the First National bank.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE,
THE MAN IN LOWER TEN, ETC.

CONNELLSVILLE, THE DODGE-MERILL CO., PUBLISHERS.

"Make a fool of myself, as I have now," he finished grimly. "And then we stalked away and left me there alone, completely bewildered, to find my way down in the dark.

I groped along, holding to the rail, for the staircase to the roof was very steep, and I went slowly. Half-way down two stairs there was a tiny landing, and I stopped. I could have sworn I heard Mr. Harbison's footsteps far below, growing fainter. I even smiled a little, there in the dark, although I had been rather profoundly shaken. The next instant I knew I had been wrong; some one was on the landing with me. I could hear short, sharp breathing, and then—

I am not sure that I struggled; in fact I don't believe I did—I was too limp with amazement. The creature, to have lain in wait for me like that! And he was brutally strong. He caught me to him forcibly, and held me there close, and then kissed me—not once or twice, but half a dozen times, long kisses that filled me with not shame for him, for myself, that I had liked him. The roughness of his coat bruised my cheek; I loathed him.

And then some one came whistling along the hall below, and he pushed me from him and stood listening, breathing in long, gasping breaths.

I ran: When my shaky knees would hold me, I ran. I wanted to hide my hot face, my flushed, my flushed. I wanted to put my head in mother's lap and cry. I wanted to die, or do ill, so I need never see him again.

Perversely enough, I did none of those things. With my face still flaming with burning eyes and hands that shook, I made a belated evening toilet and went slowly, haltingly, down the stairs. My hands were like ice, but I was consumed with rage. Oh, I would show him—that this was New York, not Iquique, that my root was not his Andean tabloid!

Every one elaborately ignored my labours from dinner. The Dulles, Browns, Max and Lollo were at bridge; Jim was alone in the den, walking the floor and biting at an unlighted cigar; Betty had returned to Aunt Selina and was hysterical, they said, and Flannigan was in deep dejection because I had missed my dinner.

"Betty is making no end of a row," Max said, looking up from his game, "because the old lady upstairs insists on chloroform liniment. Betty says the smell makes her ill."

"And she can inhale Italian cigarettes?" Anna said, curiously, "and gasoline fumes, without turning a hair. I call a ravelo, Dad: You trumped spades on the second round."

Dal hung over three telecs with very bad grace, and Anne couped them with maddening deliberation.

"Gum and rubber, she said.

"Watch Dal, Max; he will cheat in the score if he can. Kit, don't have another cigar while I am in this house. I have eaten so many lately my waist rings and falls with the tide!"

"You have a stunning color, Kit," Lollo said. "You are really quite superb. Who made that gown?"

"Where have you been hiding, du Kholé?" Max whispered, under cover of showing me the evading paper, with a photograph of the house and a cross at the bottom window where we had tried to escape. "If one day in the house with you, Kit, put me in this condition, what will a month do?"

Frogs beyond the curtain of a sort of alcove, lighted with a red-shaded lamp, came a hum of conversation, Del's cool, even tones and a heavy masculine voice. They were laughing; I could feel my chin go up. He was not even hiding his smile.

"Max," I asked, while the others chattered for him and the game, "has any one been up through the house since dinner? Any of the men?"

He looked at me curiously.

"Only Harbison," he replied promptly. "Jim has been eating his heart out in the den ever since dinner; Dal played the 'Bonita Apasionada' backward on the phonola—he wanted to put through one of Anna's lingerie wists, on a wager that it would play a tune; I played cards with Lollo, and Flannigan has been washing dishes. Why?"

"Well, that was conclusive, anyhow. I had had a faint hope that it might have been a joke, although it had borne all the evidences of sincerity, certainly. But it was past doubt now; he had lain in wait for me at the landing, and had kissed me, too, when he thought I was Jimmy's wife. Oh, I must have been very light, very contemptible. It that was what he thought of me!"

I went into the library and got a book, but it was impossible to read, with Jimmy lying on the couch gazing sent to something between a sigh and a groan every few minutes. About 11 the cards stopped, and Bella said she would read psalms. She began with Mr. Harbison, because she declared he had a wonderful hand, full of possibilities. She said he should have been a great inventor or a playwright, and that his attitude toward women was one of homage, respect, almost reverence. He had the courage to look at me, and if a glance could have killed he would have withered away.

When Jimmy proffered his hand, she looked at it icily. Of course, she could not refuse, with Mr. Harbison looking on.

"Rather negative," she said coldly.

"The lines are obscured by cushions of flesh; no heart line at all, mental, small, self-indulgent and irritatory. But Betty was, and said so plainly,

"Anyhow, she won't have me back," she faltered, "and she has sent for guess."

"Have mercy!" Dal cried, dropping to his knees. "Oh, fair ministering angel, she has not kept for me!"

"No," Betty said maliciously. "She wants Bella; she's crazy about her."

THE SOISSON.

"Madame X" Tonight.
The story of "Madame X" the great drama of mother-love by Alexandre Bisson, which Henry W. Savage will offer at the Solson theatre this afternoon and tonight, with a splendid company of 60 persons is exceedingly simple.

A young woman of weak, rather than evil character, is led from her husband by an unscrupulous man. She deserts her boy of two years ago. Later she awakes to the enormity of her act, and in true contrition, begs forgiveness. But her husband, misinterpreting her motives, drives her from the door. A little afterward he is made to understand that he was in the first instance greatly at fault, and he determines to pardon his wife and bring her back.

This is shown in the prologue, and then the action shifts to the drama proper—twenty years later. This woman, in blank despair, has drifted through the very gutter of the world. Her husband has never succeeded in finding her and she, of course, known nothing of his change of heart, toward her. In the endeavor to forget her distress and disgrace, she has turned to not morally drink, but to auto-taking as well. Her vice have wrecked her body almost to the last extremity, while they have also numbered her mortal sins. Though remaining only the one redeeming element in her soul—her love for the boy whom she has not seen for a score of years.

In this condition Madame X (as she is known) returns to France. She hopes that she may get one glimpse of the son before the death comes that she knows is near. But three rascals with whom she comes in contact discover something of her history and seek to make blackmailing capital out of it. When she finds this out she is horror-stricken at the thought of her boy's happiness may be killed forever by a knowledge of the infamy to which his mother has come. She cannot prevent the betrayal of the truth to her son in any other way, so she kills the man chiefly responsible.

She is arrested and brought to trial. In order to make sure that her boy shall never know of her evil end, she maintains a most rigid silence. She will not tell her name nor anything about herself; she will not make the slightest effort to defend herself from the greatest penalty of her act.

PHOTOGRAPHYReport of the Dunbar Schools
For Second Month of the Term.

The second month of the Dunbar boro schools closed Friday with a record of good work done. Room No. 1 teacher, Miss McHenry, made the best attendance for the month. Seven at room had the low number of twelve pupils, while the highest was twenty-four, the difference coming in writing, in which branch Prof. D. P. Peterson is special instructor. It is expected that the end of the term will show marked improvement in penmanship—an art that has been greatly neglected in past years.

The report of each room, students per cent, and class leaders, together with names of pupils present every session:
